The natural beauty of the Zoniënwood invites you to take a peaceful walk or bike ride. On the way, you will pass characteristic architectural gems such as the many glasshouses, the Vuurmolen or the Tombeekheyde. Cycling plays a central role in the rolling landscape and on the challenging hills around Overijse. The Druivenkoers, the Druivencross - the mother of cyclo-crosses - and De Brabantse Pijl are annual events that every cycling fan looks forward to. Discover Flemish Brabant for cycling heroes

We know how to race. From heroic climbs and breath-taking descents. From cobbles that make you shiver and straight concrete roads to go full gas. You can ask Eddy Merckx where he got the taste of it. Or ask Sven Nys, who's sharing the cyclo-cross course on his Balenberg with everyone. But this is also the home of the younger generation of cyclists. Remco Evenepoel prefers racing over the roads of the Pajottenland. Jasper Stuyven has basically tested all of these roads during his long training rides from his home city Leuven. It's no coincidence that the biggest riders in Flemish-Brabant gathered to decide on the very best rider during the 100th birthday of the UCI Road World Championships.

Not only can you speed on these beautiful cycling roads, the off-road adventure is also calling when you leave the flat roads. The nicest gravel routes show you places your car will never get you. Take your mountain bike or cyclo-cross bike and challenge yourself on the exhausting single tracks through the woods and fields. That much variation and so many disciplines can only be found in our province. It's up to you to discover it all. So stay a little longer, because one day sure is not enough!

Edition 2022

De Brabantse Pijl

The rain made it a tough closing race to the Flemish spring last year. Demi Vollering rode away from her competitors 10 km from the finish, on the final climb of the Moskesstraat. She rode solo to the finish and ended ahead of Niewiadoma and Lippert. It was a similar scenario in the men's race. After a series of attack attempts, it was Sheffield who bolted away 3.5km from the finish and, like Vollering, soloed to victory. Cosnefroy and Barguil took second and third places.

The climbs on the local loop in Overijse

No less than four times, both the men and women have to confront some of the toughest climbs of the Druivenstreek. No laughing matter, especially if you have already climbed them yourself. Want to experience the race even better? You can do so by ticking off this list from top to bottom each lap:

HAGAARD

- > Type: asphalt
- > Length: 300 metres
- > Average gradient: 10.2 %
- > Maximum gradient: 13.5 %

The Hagaard is only 300 metres long, but treacherously steep. As the opener of the climbing quintet, it's certainly tough on the legs. The riders will not have much time on this narrow asphalt road to enjoy the beautiful forest surroundings. Looking for a base for your cycling club? Then youth house De Hagaard is your place to be.

- > Type: cobbles
- > Length: 700 metres
- > Average gradient: 4,9 %
- > Max gradient: 9,4 %

HERTSTRAAT

Turn off the Terhulpansesteenweg and then straight up: that is how the Hertstraat is presented to you. Not the highest percentages, but a climb with seemingly no end in sight. First, you bump along the cobblestones for 700 metres and then, for dessert, there is still a long tail end. Where do you start your attack?

- > Type: cobbles
- > Length: 550 metres
- > Average gradient: 7,9 %
- > Max gradient: 18 %

MOSKESSTRAAT

The Moskesstraat is a typical Flemish climb. In the run-up to the 2021 UCI Road World Championships, Overijse set aside time and resources to further underline the authentic character of this sunken road. The many asphalt patches were removed from the surface, all the original cobblestones were cleaned and placed back on a foundation of permeable stone chippings, also known as loose joints. This durable reconstruction was not completed with kerbs, but large cobblestones on the side of the road. The entire process respected the characteristic Flemish way, comparable with the Koppenberg and Paterberg. This Flemish way means slightly stepped because of the slope and in order to preserve the original feel.

- > Type: asphalt
- > Lengte: 1,000 metres
- > Average gradient: 5,3 %
- > Maximum gradient: 11,5 %

HOLSTHEIDE

The climb where Remco Evenepoel attacked three times during the last edition of De Brabantse Pijl. A climb for men and women with great stamina, for those who can ride just with that bigger gear. The wide road between meadow and forest ensures that you do not quickly disappear from sight. Who dares to escape this year on this leg killer? The last chance for those who do not have the final punch to complete matters on the S-bend in Overijse.

- > Type: asphalt
- > Lengte: 783 metres
- > Average gradient: 5,5 %
- > Maximum gradient: 18 %

S-BEND OVERIJSE

Just like the Moskesstraat, the S-bend in the centre of Overijse was added to the course of the road races at the 2021 UCI Road World Championships. As with the Moskesstraat, Puncheur provided several paintings on the wall of the S-Bend in Overijse. The 'wall of fame' for the 100th anniversary of the World Championships featured a selection of Belgian former world champions and Flandriens, such as Eddy Merckx, Yvonne Reynders and Briek Schotte, as well as Rik Van Steenbergen, Rik Van Looy, Georges Ronsse and Freddy Maertens.

WEAR IT IN THE SUN, LOVE IT IN THE RAIN.

Frightening clouds are on sight, but you start your session nonetheless. A few kilometers into the ride sky opens up and sun pops out. As temperature rises, body moisture gets trapped and you start thinking that wearing your best jacket was the worst decision of your life.

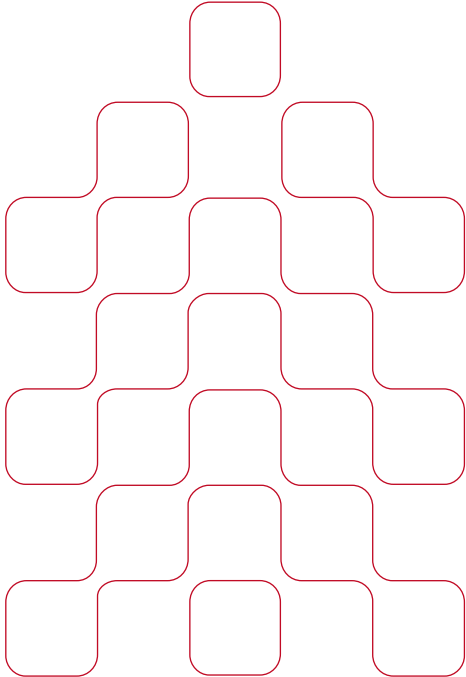

We developed our Fiandre collection with this concern in mind: provide protective layers to face any weather conditions at high intensity effort. You'll be wearing these garments on a chilly day with bright sky, in a spring storm, when summer comes to an unexpected end. You pick!

Want to experience De Brabantse Pijl for yourself!

Fancy conquering the many tough climbs of the Druivenstreek and Zennevallei yourself? Then come to Heverlee on Saturday 15 April and finish your Flemish spring in style. No fewer than three distances (74, 110 or 150 kilometres) will take you over the rolling roads of Flemish Brabant. Follow the pro's races closely and decide where you can place your attack three days later!
